

BIOLOGY BAKE-OFF

START PLANNING NOW
FOR LAST WEEK OF TER

Monday Challenges

- Weird mating rituals poll – Some animals have some really weird and wonderful ways to attract a mate. Which do you think is the weirdest? Look at the contenders on the attached information (or on the display board in the Biology department) and place your vote using the Forms Poll on this email
- Biology bake off for Masks for Kenya – start preparing your cakes for the competition on Thursday – entries are welcome from all students and staff, £1 per entry and following judgement the cakes can be sold to raise money for Masks for Kenya. Drop off your entries on Thursday Morning in Big school or SFC. Judging will look for best tasting and best biological representation at the following times:
 - Year 7&8: Big School 13:30
 - Year 9&10: Big School 13:00
 - Year 11: Big school 11:30 Break
 - Sixth form and staff: SFC 11:30 Break
- Nancy Rothwell Competition – This is a national Biological drawing competition run by the Royal Society of Biology. The Biology department would like to encourage any student to make an entry – details and examples can be found on display in the department or by asking Mrs Gibson or Mr Forsyth

The Nancy Rothwell Award

Draw, paint, sketch or digitally create artwork capturing plant and animal anatomy

Open to pupils aged 7 to 18 years old

Closing date: 30 July 2021

RVC
Royal
Veterinary College
University of London

Royal Society of Biology

rsb.org.uk/nancy-rothwell-award

